Bio : In the early days, Karen listened, and laughed, and she played around with her tape recorder. A lot. In school, there was drama. Don't worry, the organized kind, but that still didn't satisfy her. Almost as soon as she became a regular on the web, she was sending wav files out into the great unknown. Always searching for the next exciting piece, always up for the next big challenge. These days she gets paid for talking enthusiastically, doing silly voices, and making animal noises.
